The Nashville Assassins are a professional indoor football team based in Nashville, Tennessee. They are members of the National Arena League (NAL). The team was founded in 2019 and began play in 2020. The Assassins play their home games at the Municipal Auditorium in Nashville.

History

The Nashville Assassins were founded in 2019 by a group of local businessmen led by Bill Hagerty, the former U.S. Senator from Tennessee. The team was originally named the Nashville Predators, but the name was changed to the Assassins in 2020.

The Assassins began play in the NAL in 2020. The team finished the season with a 5-7 record and missed the playoffs.

Roster

The Assassins roster is composed of players from all over the United States. The team has a number of experienced players, including former NFL players Corey Davis and Kenny Vaccaro.

Coaching staff

The Assassins are coached by head coach Corey Chamblin. Chamblin is a former NFL player and coach. He was the head coach of the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Canadian Football League (CFL) from 2012 to 2015.

Stadium

The Assassins play their home games at the Municipal Auditorium in Nashville. The Municipal Auditorium is a historic venue that has hosted a variety of events, including concerts, sporting events, and political rallies.

Future

The Nashville Assassins are a young team with a bright future. The team has a strong roster and a talented coaching staff. The Assassins are also playing in a growing market. Nashville is a rapidly growing city with a strong passion for football.

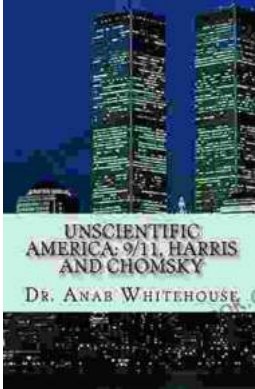

The Assassins are poised to make a run for the NAL championship in the years to come. The team has the potential to be a major force in the league and to bring a championship to Music City.
