Rock Drum Rhythms

Rock drumming is characterized by its strong, driving beat. The basic rock beat is played on the bass drum (BD) and snare drum (SD) in a 4/4 time signature.

- Basic Rock Beat: This is the foundation of rock drumming. Keep your tempo steady and your beats even.
 - Half-Time Shuffle: This variation adds a shuffle feel to the basic beat by playing the bass drum on every other beat.
 - Double Bass Drumming: For a heavier sound, use two bass drums to create a rolling thunder effect.

Jazz Drum Rhythms

Jazz drumming is more intricate and syncopated than rock drumming. It often features complex rhythms and improvisational solos.

- Basic Jazz Beat: This beat adds a hi-hat (HH) to the basic rock beat, creating a swinging feel.
 - Ride Cymbal Pattern: Play a steady rhythm on the ride cymbal while improvising on the snare and bass drums.
 - Comping: Use the snare drum and hi-hat to create a rhythmic accompaniment for the other instruments.

Punk Drum Rhythms

Punk drumming is aggressive and energetic, with a fast tempo and heavy syncopation.

BD | SD | Closed HH | Open HH | BD | SD | Closed HH | Open HH |

- Basic Punk Beat: This beat is played with a fast tempo and heavy accents on the bass drum.
- Blast Beat: This extreme drumming technique involves playing the bass drum and snare drum as fast as possible.
- Double Bass Drumming: As in rock drumming, double bass drums can add heaviness and power to a punk beat.
